

Spring Meeting of the Mid-Atlantic Chapter of the American Fisheries Society

Rider University Campus
May 11, 2005

Agenda

Registration, Coffee and doughnuts - 9:30

Welcome – 10:00

Student Oral Presentations

Damian Brady – University of Delaware, CMS – “Hypoxia-induced searching strategies of juvenile weakfish: How do interacting kinesis facilitate hypoxia avoidance and survival.”

Mathew Kimball – Rutgers University – “The long-term response of inter-tidal fish communities to restoration efforts at a former salt hay farm.”

Mathew Grobowski – Delaware State University – “Examination of external tag retention and post-tagging survival in weakfish.”

Break

Jason Morson – Rider University – “Variations in the morphology of electric organs in skates.”

Jessica Thomas - Delaware State University – “An evaluation of surgical closure techniques for long-term transmitter retention, healing, and survival in yellow-phase American eels.”

Lunch Break – Noonish

Review and Open Discussion of Poster Presentations

Business Meeting